

Samantha is looking at college opportunities on a computer program that she learned about in Success Prep.

- Vonda, Samantha's mom

Samantha, age 14

So many treasures donated this year. Prom dresses, food, school supplies, craft
supplies, cleaning supplies, gift certificates - it all helps
the bottom line.
Ms. Jane, Director of Finance

Rahema, age 15

Denai has enjoyed participating in "Material Girls". She built a step-stool as a Mother's Day gift for me.

Julia, Denai's mom

The girls loved learning how to use new power tools with each project. The fancy side plates on this stool required a jib saw. — Marc, volunteer.

Denai, age 16

Reproductive health programs are an important part of growing up as a girl.

Emily Mujica
Director of Programs

Jamecé age 17

The baby think it over program gave Jamece
The opportunity to see how hard it would be to be a teen moter and the responsibility that comes along with it. - Regina, Jamecé' aunt

Morgan, age 18

I am honored that Morgan was chosen to receive the Girls Inc. national scholarship. Going to college is not only an adventure, but also costly. This generous gift will enable Morgan to concentrate on her studies 100%.

Kimberly, Girls Inc. and Yale alum!

As the parent of Kimberly, a former Girls Inc. member, I am extremely proud about her graduation from Yale University. She accomplished her dream of becoming a midwife.

- Joyce, Kimberly's Mom

There may be a "first day" at Girls Inc. but there is no such thing as a "last day." Kimberly is a Girls Inc. alum forever and part of our ongoing legacy of "strong, smart, & bold."
